Bellabeat Case Study: Business Task

1.Project Overview

Bellabeat is a tech-driven wellness company founded by a mathematician (Sando Mur) and an artist (Urška Sršen). By merging artistic design with mathematical precision, Bellabeat empowers women with beautifully designed technology that informs and inspires healthy habits. They also have a Bellabeat app which connects to their line of smart wellness products including Leaf tracker, Time watch and Spring water bottle.

Bellabeat is a successful small company that possesses the potential to become a larger player. So, the company believes that analysing third-party smart device fitness data would help unlock new growth opportunities for them. Likewise, this project focuses on informing data-driven marketing strategies based on the analysis of consumer usage trends.

2. The Business Task

The objective of this project is to analyse third-party consumer data. Analysing the consumer habits and trends will generate insights about how people are already using their smart devices.

With the analysis, we can then personalise the marketing strategies for the Bellabeat product – Leaf tracker.

Giving high-level recommendations to the executive team will unlock new growth opportunities and guide the executive team towards their goal of becoming a global player.

3. Guiding Business Questions

The three guiding questions explicitly stated by the Chief Creative Officer are as follows:

- What are some trends in smart device usage?
- How could these trends apply to Bellabeat customers?
- How could these trends help influence marketing strategy?

4. Key Stakeholders

- Urška Sršen: Co-founder and Chief Creative Officer – Initiated the project to unlock new opportunities for Bellabeat's growth.
- Sando Mur: Co-founder and key member of the Bellabeat executive team.
- Bellabeat Marketing Analytics Team: A team of data analysts responsible for collecting, analyzing, and reporting data to guide marketing strategy.

- Bellabeat Executive Team: The leadership team who receives and responsible for the final approval of high-level recommendations and marketing strategies.

5. Expected Outcomes & Deliverables:

- A clear summary of the business task.
- A description of all data sources used.
- Documentation of any cleaning or manipulation of data.
- A summary of the analysis.
- Supporting visualizations and key findings.

Ultimate Strategic Outcome : The project will culminate in three high-level, data-driven recommendations designed to inform Bellabeat's marketing strategy and help the company become a larger player in the global smart device market.